Africa Mission 2012

Teams are being assembled, pastors trained and plans made for the 2012 mission to Ghana and Nigeria. Currently, pastors are participating in a three-month training and have begun work in each village visiting house-to-house, conducting Bible studies, praying for the sick and promoting our evangelistic crusades in February.

Christian World Missions' leadership will depart for Ghana on February 8th where they will spend three days visiting churches previously planted. This is part of the process of "...establishing fruit that remains." We want to see first hand how the existing churches are growing and what needs they may have.

The US missionary team will depart for Ghana on February 11 and Nigeria on February 19. Individuals can choose to go to one country or to work in both Ghana and Nigeria. When the team arrives, they join a large contingent of indigenous volunteers (preachers, nurses, doctors, prayer warriors, construction workers) and are deployed into the villages. During the day, the teams offer free medical clinics and begin construction on pavilion churches. In the evenings, evangelistic meetings are conducted, which include music, preaching, testimonies, the Jesus Film and prayer ministry.

Crusade in Nigeria

The new churches are usually consecrated before our departure and begin meeting together immediately. Sponsors from the U.S. support them through Christian World Missions for the first three years, providing the pastor's salary, a bicycle and Bible, and funds for their first meeting facility. Our African evangelists make regular visits to all of the churches to instruct and encourage.

Time is running out to plan for the 2012 Mission, but you may want to begin planning for the 2013 mission. It will be around the same time in February.

Please pray for how you can be a part of this ministry, by hands-on ministry in Africa, through financially supporting the ministry, by praying for specific needs in the area, or through some other avenue that God directs.

Dates to Remember for International Missions and Tours

February 11 – 20: Mission to Ghana
February 20 – 27: Mission to Nigeria
End of April/First of May: Mission to India
November 2 – 15: Pilgrimage to Israel

Indian Mission 2012

We are in the process of planning our India Mission for April/May 2012. We will be assisting with the Vacation Bible School that reaches over 5,600 children, planting seeds and introducing young people to Jesus Christ. It is one of, if not, the largest vacation Bible schools in the world! Come join us in this amazing evangelistic opportunity and great adventure. Following the Bible school, we will also conduct women's Bible studies, evangelize in the villages and participate in the other ministries. Information about this mission will be available by January 15, 2012.

Pilgrimage to Israel

Due to schedules and seasonal pricing structures, we are moving the Pilgrimage to Israel to November of 2012. Mark your calendars and plan to join us November 2 – 15, 2012 for an adventure like none other. As many Christians have proclaimed, "Going to Israel is like going home."

During one of our trips a guide stated, "This is the ancient city of Bethsaida. We will visit many places in Israel where we will say, 'We think Jesus may have walked here.' But you can know, without any doubt that he walked along this very street."

I moved on down the road, eager to see the newly opened site. After a minute, I noticed that I was walking alone, and looking back, saw four of the men from our group on their knees, worshipping God and thanking Him for sending Jesus. Their wives were standing or sitting close by, weeping, praying, giving thanks. Later, all of them were overflowing with things to share about what they were experiencing.

We hope you will pray about joining us on our 6th pilgrimage to Israel. There is nothing that compares! The Bible comes to life in new ways and you are connected to the ancient past and the promised future in ways that truly strengthen your faith.

Please feel free to call if you have questions, or visit our website and click on "Israel" for a complete itinerary and registration information as it becomes available.
